DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-4, drawn to a method for increasing stress resistance to a plant which comprises introducing into a plant a raffinose synthetase gene encoding a protein of SEQ ID NO:1, classified in class 800, subclass 289, for example.
- II. Claim 5, drawn to a method for increasing stress resistance to a plant which comprises increasing raffinose content in the plant body, classified in class 435, subclass 410, for example.
- III. Claim 6, drawn to a method for increasing stress resistance to a plant which comprises improving raffinose synthetic activity in the plant body, classified in class 435, subclass 468, for example.
- IV. Claim 7, drawn to a method for increasing stress resistance to a plant which comprises excessively expressing in the plant body a protein of SEQ ID NO:1, classified in class 800, subclass 289, for example.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I-IV are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions have different modes of operation.

Invention I requires the use of a raffinose synthetase gene, which is not required to practice Inventions II-IV. Increasing the raffinose content in the plant body can be accomplished by methods that do not require the use of a raffinose synthetase gene, such as by the application of raffinose to the plant body. Improving raffinose synthetic activity in the plant body can be accomplished by methods that do not require the use of a raffinose synthetase gene, such as by altering the expression of genes that encode enzymes that function downstream or upstream of raffinose synthetase in the raffinose biosynthetic pathway. Excessively expressing in the plant body a protein of SEQ ID NO:1 can be accomplished by methods that do not require the use of a raffinose synthetase gene, such as by altering the expression of a gene that encodes a transcription factor that increases the expression of an endogenous gene encoding a protein of SEQ ID NO:1.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, their recognized divergent subject matter, and the requirement for different areas of search, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
